

CORRECTIONS 2021-2022

Morris Hall 109, (507) 389-2721

https://sbs.mnsu.edu/academics/corrections/

The Corrections major is designed to prepare students for entry level professional work in corrections. The major is built upon a foundation of general education, sociological and criminological concepts, and a commitment to understanding and transforming correctional practice. The major achieves its objectives through the melding of academic learning with experiential education. This program promotes, within corrections and to the community at large, a commitment to the principles of social justice, respect, tolerance, dignity and worth of all persons.
