

Just For You

My heart just sings for you and nothing more

No one else, it's just for you

Like a mockingbird singing to us humans

But only this time it's just meant for you

It may have taken some time

But my heart eventually found the right note

Each time your seen the perfect note is met

And that note is just for you

Like a soprano and tenor going together

You are my perfect note

And our two notes got together

And they met in perfect harmony
